About the Presenters

Founder of KIN & KiDS, Charis Wong is a Counseling Psychologist and also a Licensed Marriage and Family Therapist Associate (Texas), Licensed Professional Counselor Intern (Texas), and a Registered and Licensed Counselor in Malaysia. She obtained her Master of Science in Counselling Psychology and post-master Graduate Academic Certificate in Child Counseling/Play Therapy from the University Of North Texas, which has the largest play training facility in the world. Her clinical experience in Texas includes working at a psychiatric hospital and a residential facility, as well as at several outpatient settings in Texas. Charis was also a lecturer at the Department of Psychology, HELP University College, Malaysia teaching in the graduate and undergraduate programs.

Charis' interest in working with families led her to obtain further post-graduate training in play therapy so that she could involve children in the therapeutic process. She is an international professional member of the Association for Play Therapy, USA (APT). At HELP, she developed and taught a new course, Therapeutic Play for the BPsych program. This was the first ever university course on play therapy offered in Malaysia. In 2012, Charis pioneered graduate-level training in play therapy approved by the APT. She has also presented papers and workshops on play therapy at several international conferences.

Su Chen is a Registered and Licensed Counselor (Malaysia) with a special focus on working with children, teenagers and parents at Kin & Kids Marriage, Family and Child Therapy Center. She holds a Masters in Counselling (HELP University) and has also received graduate-level US-accredited training in Play Therapy (APT, USA). She is an international professional member of the Association for Play Therapy, USA.

Her clinical experience in the non-profit as well as private practice settings include using sandtray therapy as a key technique to effectively work with children and teenagers struggling with issues such as trauma, abuse, neglect, aggression, anxiety, poor self-esteem and grief. In year 2012, she was responsible in pioneering the setup of a counselling center equipped with play therapy and sandtray therapy for a school for the marginalized local and refugee children and teenagers in KL. Su Chen is also a Certified Trauma and Loss Specialist (The National Institute for Trauma and Loss in Children, USA) and an adjunct lecturer in College of Allied Educators (Malaysia).

About KIN & KiDS Marriage, Family and Child Therapy Center

KIN & KiDS Marriage, Family and Child Therapy Center is staffed with trained and qualified therapists to provide child, couple, and family therapy, as well as psychological assessments. KIN & KiDS also aims to support the development of quality mental health services in Malaysia by offering training and supervision to current and future mental health professionals. Kin & Kids continuing education workshops provide an intimate experience with direct trainer-participant contact through small groups, live demonstrations, role-plays, and discussions of video segments of sessions.

All continuing education programs at KIN & KiDS are conducted in accordance with the Code of Ethics promulgated by the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists. Participants with full attendance will receive a Certificate of Attendance.

KIN and KiDS is an Approved Provider (#11-288) of play therapy continuing education under the Association of Play Therapy, USA.

If you are interested in sand tray therapy, here are three reasons to join our workshop:

1. This workshop is approved by Association of Play Therapy, USA for graduate-level continuing education credits, which may be counted towards professional credentials. This also means that the workshop meets the professional standards set out by the APT.
2. We limit the workshop to only 12 participants to keep the workshop provider-participants ratio low and to enable you to get one-on-one guidance by our providers.
3. All materials will be provided for the workshop! That means you do not have to worry about hunting around for appropriate miniatures, sand and trays!

A total of 9.5 clock hours approved by the Association of Play Therapy, USA and a certificate of attendance will only be given to participants who attend the entire workshop.

So, hurry up now to register and secure a place!
